

Abbott Patient Assistance Program

- Products included: Multiple products including even non amino-acid based formulas like Pediasure
- Eligibility determination :
 - Patient must be a U.S. resident and have no healthcare insurance coverage for the requested product
 - Patient must use formula for 100% of caloric need
 - Patient must have no access to other external sources of funding or coverage
- Decision timeframe: Unstated
- Limit: Determined on a case by case basis but if approved product is distributed at no cost to patient or their family

Website: <http://static.abbottnutrition.com/cms-prod/pathwayreimbursement.com/img/PAP%20Application%20Final.pdf>

Nestle HealthCare Patient Assistance Program

- Products included: Both Infant and Jr. formulas for tube and oral feeding
- Eligibility determination :
 - Calculator based on federal poverty level (approximately $24,400/year for a family of four)
 - Must have no prescription coverage for requested product
 - Patient must use formula for 100% of caloric need
- Decision timeframe: 48 hrs
- Limit: Provides up to 12 cases of formula per year
- Website:
http://www.needymeds.org/company_list.taf?function=name&program_id=7ffd85d93a3e4de5c490d304ccd9f864

Nutricia (Neocate) Assistance Program

- Products included: Product eligibility is restricted to infant formulas
- Eligibility determination :
 - Patient must be a U.S. resident and have no healthcare insurance coverage for the requested product
 - No restriction on %of caloric need
 - Patient must have no access to other external sources of funding or coverage
- Decision timeframe: Within a week. * Through its Navigator program however, Nutricia works with families to appeal insurance rulings prior to approval and does approve reduced cost formula for families not meeting requirements for free formula.
- Limit: Determined on a case by case basis but if approved product is distributed at no cost to patient or their family
- Website: <http://www.neocate.com/images/uploads/Files/Neocate%20Assistance%20Program%20Form%20December%202015.pdf>